Norris Dam State Park is located on the shores of Norris Lake at the site of Norris Dam, the first of a series of dams built by the Tennessee Valley Authority beginning in 1933. Situated in the ridge and valley region of East Tennessee, the park occupies more than 4,000 acres. Caves, scenic valleys, sparkling streams and a virgin forest are among the natural wonders at Norris.

Great emphasis is placed on historical interpretation at the W.G. Lenoir Pioneer Museum. An 18th century gristmill, a threshing barn and a shop featuring authentic Tennessee crafts are among the cultural attractions for park visitors.

Access Fees may apply. Call park for details.
